Are They Necessary?

THE things you spend so much of your money for—do they really make you happier, improve your mind, make you feel better, or do any good at all? Think a bit; do they?

Save your money—don't spend it on things that are so useless that you can't even remember what they were. Save your money, and you'll have it when the pinch comes.

Don't Place All the Responsibility on the Teacher

The children are at school now, and for five or six hours of the day are under the supervision of the teachers, but parents should not put the entire responsibility of their children's lives on them, or in any way relax in their care and watchfulness. Going or coming from school, and the long hours before and after school, the parents alone are responsible, and if little Johnny or Susie picks up a bad word or a habit, don't think the teacher is at fault. We know of parents, who, as soon as school opens immediately dismiss from their minds any further care of the little ones, relying upon their school work to keep them busy and out of mischief. It is fair to presume that during school sessions the child's welfare will be guarded by the teacher, but there their authority ends, and it is the duty of the parents to know where they spend their time when school is not in session. We are believers in the Parent-Teachers' associations, and consider it the duty of the mothers, especially to become members of the organization and make the personal acquaintance of the teacher of their children and work in harmony with each other. This will encourage the children as well as the teacher, and make school life much pleasanter and more profitable for the pupils.

After All, the World Is Good

No one can see the wonderful spontaneity with which the people of the entire civilized world rush to the relief of afflicted Japan, without a better opinion of humanity. Some years ago, Japan was a mere name of a far distant country, but today we are neighbors and friends who have suffered a terrible calamity through no fault of their own, and we all feel it a duty to go to their relief. Food and money in the millions is rushed to their relief and everything that kind mortals can do will be done for the sufferers. It is such occasions as this that proves that Christianity is not a failure, and the glorious Red Cross once more is proving its charity and organized efficiency. Chicago, great big, careless and happy Chicago, is leading in its relief work, and a small handful of men raised the first quarter of a million dollars in a half hour session, and their full quota will be subscribed by rich and poor, in large and small sums by the time this reaches the eyes of our readers.

Aldermen Endorse Mayor Dever's Efficiency Survey

Certain influences in the city council, at first opposed the efficiency survey of all the city departments as proposed by Mayor Dever and threatened to withhold the necessary funds, but as the sum of $30,000 had been included in the 1923 budget for that purpose, the survey to be made under supervision of the finance committee, they were persuaded to turn it over to the Mayor and add $5,000 to it, so that the survey will begin at once.

There can be no doubt that there is a duplication of duties by many city employes, and that some are receiving salaries for doing nothing, hence the Mayor's policy is indorsed by all thinking persons and is in line with his election promises to give an economical administration by cutting off all useless and needless tax eaters salaries.

Mr. Thos. Kinane, Toledo, Ohio, has returned after a visit with his brother, James Kinane, 261 65th st.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Rankin, 7604 Green st., have returned from Niagara Falls.

The Woman's society of the Normal Park Baptist church held its first meeting of the season Thursday, September 6th. Plans were made for the annual bazaar to be held at the holiday season.

Englewood Evening School Opens to Enrollers

Englewood Evening school will open for work Monday evening. Enrollment began on Thursday evening, September 13th, and continued Friday, September 14th. From indications there will be even a larger enrollment than there was during the fall of 1922.

Not only does the school offer opportunity for instruction along various lines, but there is a standard high school as well in which a student may take work in any high school subject which will count just the same as work done in day high schools.

Great stress is placed upon the common branches also, and men and women who have had to neglect a common school education for some reason or other may get an eighth grade diploma at this evening school, just as valid as that given at the various day elementary schools of the city.

Great opportunity is offered also to men and women who have been born in foreign countries. In former years this group has formed one of the largest and most enthusiastic in the school. Mr. Willis E. Tower, the principal, extends a special invitation for these folks to come over and take advantage of the wonderful opportunity offered by this big evening school.

Five Washdays now
...instead of one

Monday
Tuesday
Wednesday
Thursday
Friday

Woman is no longer a creature of habit ruled by the calendar. She no longer sets aside a certain day for mending, a certain day for cleaning, a certain day for baking. She mends and cleans and bakes when mending and cleaning and baking are needed.

In the same way she has ceased to regard Monday as washday.

For the custom of doing the washing the first day of the week was never more than a habit ingrained in the lives of women through generations of practice. It was born of the housewife's desire to be rid of the worst of her week's drudgery first; it was passed along from mother to daughter through the centuries.

But when professional laundry service came to relieve women of this hardest of household tasks, the old prejudice that "Monday is washday" disappeared.

Today, Wednesday is just as much a washday as Monday; Thursday and Friday just as much as Tuesday. You can send the family washing to the laundry on any one of these five days and be certain of careful, thorough work. Indeed, by choosing the latter half of the week, you may even secure a little more prompt service.

But whatever day you select, you have the same wide choice of laundry services. If you desire a complete, all-ironed service, you may have that. If you prefer only part of the ironing done, there are semi-ironed services to fulfill your wishes. And if you would rather do all the ironing at home with just the washing cared for by the laundry, you may have such a service. In any event, you are assured exactly the help you want at a price to your liking.

Today—no matter what day of the week it is—if you are not already patronizing a laundry, give one of these services a trial. Just phone the Modern laundry—they will send a representative for your bundle.

To have your laundry work out of the way and ironing finished and house all cleaned up EARLY IN THE WEEK, we advise a

The New Negligee Collar

SEVERAL collar manufacturers are now making a Semi-Soft or Negligee Collar that is a big improvement over the old style soft collar, and may be worn on many occasions where the old style soft collar would be entirely out of place.

When PROPERLY LAUNDERED this Semi-Soft collar will wear just as long as the stiff collar, and should withstand many more washings than the old style soft collar.

When purchasing Semi-Soft collars we recommend that you select styles that do not have buttons.

We launder all kinds of collars, but would not like to have you reject the Semi-Soft collar until you see how they look when we launder them.

At the Harvard Theater

Last chance to see "Enemies of Women," featuring Lionel Barrymore supported by an all star cast, including Alma Rubens, Gareth Hughes, William Colliers and others. This is perhaps the strongest work Mr. Barrymore ever did on the motion picture stage.

Saturday, Sept. 15th. "Her Fatal Millions," Viola Dana's newest Metro starring vehicle, and one of the most charming and amusing photoplays of the year. Miss Dana calls it the best picture she has ever made and that statement has aroused the highest delights of anticipation among the followers of this tiny, vivacious comedienne.

Sunday and Monday, Sept. 16th and 17th. Nita Naldi, famous vamp of the screen, had considerable trouble in determining the kind of a head-dress she should wear in the Cleopatra role which she plays in the prologue for Allan Dwan's Paramount production of "Lawful Larceny." There are many different conceptions of the famous vamp of history. The German artists showed her with a bandana scarf about her head while the French conceived her with no head-dress at all. Miss Naldi wears a gold head-piece, fashioned somewhat like a crown with an asp in front and a suggestion of the lotus flower in the back.

Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 18th and 19th. "The Silent Partner," is a Paramount picture, featuring Leatrice Joy, Owen Moore and Robert Edeson, produced by Charles Maigne. Thursday, Sept. 20th. In her latest picture, "The Truth About Wives," Betty Blythe plays the role of a typical American girl who marries for position, rather than love, and pays the penalty when she discovers that her husband is weak, larcenous, and unfaithful. The picture is an absorbing study of what women suffer when unhappily married—but there is a way out!

Man was condemned to earn his bread by the sweat of his brow at one time, but now he earns it by the wag of his jaw and by the easy chair route and profiteering.

Casey told me of a man found in front of one of the down town sky scrapers with his neck broken, and when I asked from what story he fell, he answered: "Shure, he didn't fall, he wot ownly lookin' to see if he could see the top iv it."

I read that Popova the dancer is the daughter of Rev. Peter Popoff of the Greek church. I wonder would Pop Popoff when he knows Olga dances, or is he able to win Popova?

Dick had not waxed enthusiastic over the new little sister. When he was called in from a ball game to "watch baby" his disgust knew no bounds. He stated his opinion in a terse sentence: "Seems to me that the people that sends for babies ought to do the taking care of them."

Many men who boast of maintaining the laws make an exception when it comes to the Volstead statutes, or at least they smile at their violation.

"Unlucky at cards; lucky at love," was quoted yesterday when Casey butted in with "Oh, Oi dunno, it depinds upon the kind iv hands ye hould in aither case."

Someone had remarked, "Isn't it strange how many doctors are poor men?" when Casey chipped in with "Not a bit stranger than how miny min are poor docthors."

Meeting a newly married friend, Casey asked the maiden name of his new wife. "Helen Summer," answered the groom. "An' phwat is ut in winther?" innocently asked Casey.

A man entered a crowded railway carriage and placed a heavy book, almost a small trunk, on the parcels rack. A nervous passenger was sitting beneath and after looking at the bulky package and fearing it would fall on him, said: "I say, do you think it's quite safe?" "Oh yes," responded the owner cheerfully; "it's locked."

"Oi saved that girl's loife onct," said Casey, as a well known young woman passed us on the corner. "How was that?" I asked, scenting a good story. "Well, 'twas this way," said he. "We were engaged onct, and finally she tould me she'd rather doie than marry me; and I let her off."

It was a little Green st. boy who startled his mama Sunday afternoon by telling his mother that there was "No more baths for me." "Why?" asked the mama. "Cause de teacher in de Sunday school told us today, we were all made of dust, and if I gets in de tub, I'll turn into mud, no more baths for me."

A negro mammy had a family of well-behaved boys, and one day her mistress asked, "Sally, how did you raise your boys so well?" "Ah'll tell you, missus," answered Sally. "Ah raise dem boys with a barrel-stave, an' Ah raise' 'em frequent."

A butcher has been inspired, after looking over his list of delinquent customers, to compose the following: "How dear to our heart is the old silver dollar, when some kind customer presents it to view; the Liberty head without necktie or collar, and all the strange things which to us seem so new; the wide-spreading eagle, the arrows below it, the stars and the words with the strange things they tell; the coin of our fathers, we're glad that we knew it, for some time or other 'twill come in right well: the spread-eagle dollar, the star-spangled dollar, the old silver dollar we all love so well."

Hiram Kelly Branch News

Now that the season for rest and recreation is over, we turn our thoughts and attention toward planning our work for the fall. We feel rested and satisfied that the time for play is over now, and with renewed pep and interest we resume our ambitions.

Schools are open and the question arises—What vocation am I best suited for? What course of study should I follow? We want you to know that this branch can help you a great deal in answering these questions. We have a splendid collection of books on vocational guidance. They are written by people who have made a careful study of educational problems, professions and business problems. This compilation is the result of the great demand for vocational information in order to help the youth of today in his choice of a life career.

We have learned that greater knowledge creates greater efficiency. For this reason, vocational guidance is strongly advocated in the schools, and vocational advisors are hired on school staffs to help the student in his particular work.
